Poster Project®

Where poetry meets infographics, we give you this Central New York word cloud. Our annual call for poetry invites writers to submit up to three haiku about Syracuse or the nearby countryside. Upwards of 130 writers participate, composing some 250 fresh haiku each year. Here we present a graphic summary of the most prevalent words from the 2017 entries. Note that “sun” and “summer” challenge the prominance of “snow.”
